Susan Pardue

“ABSTRACTIONS”

October 10 – November 9, 2008

Susan Pardue started her art career as a dancer with the NYC Ballet. She then moved to Paris where she established her own ballet company. On returning to New York, she choreographed and danced with the prestigious Judson Dance Theatre.

In 1965 she married William Pardue and they soon moved to Huntington, where she took her masters degree in social work at Adelphi University and started a second career in that field.

After turning sixty, she took up painting, choosing to work in abstraction. This is her first solo exhibit.
